

How Does Your Donation to the Every Family Counts Campaign Impact Our Children?

“As parents we want our children to have complete and fulfilling lives. For many people, true fulfillment is closely linked with finding an early path towards excellence. It does not matter whether one’s early interest develops into an adult career. What matters is that every child finds a positive, meaningful activity that instills self-confidence and self worth. For some children, excellence will come on athletic fields. For others it will come in the class spelling bee. But, for many children fulfillment will arrive on the stage, at the piano or with a paintbrush in hand.”
